Having made a full recovery from the excitement of MIF and WYD REMAR Australia now turns its gaze to the next biggest event this year, Red Leadership Camp!

Rowers across Australia have begun their preparations, booking flights and getting school work up to date, whilst their amazing Helms attended a Red Inservice. The Inservice was aimed at preparing our Red Helms for what is one of the most important and enjoyable events on the Red calendar. With 250 rowers expected to participate, practicalities were on the agenda but it was also a chance to share stories of their beloved caravels.

On top of this the Red Helms took part in a workshop on the Marist Charism which looked at the 5 characteristics which guide us in our Marist lives. It enabled them to reflect on their own experiences and on the importance of these characteristics on their journey as REMAR Helms!

Look at me! The young Marcellin... ready for anything, keen for adventure... but also looking for something more meaningful in life...

Why not come on the Pilgrimage to see where I lived, learnt and prayed... its bound to be a great adventure... after all the food & wine around here are simply superb...

...I must be getting back to my study though because we're leaving on the 24th of June and returning on the 19th of July 2009... Unfortunately it does cost $4500 but that pays for pretty much everything! I know it's a lot but if you straighten nails everyday you should just earn enough! So contact the office & come along!

Green Navigators made a stop in at port Bulleen to take counsel and discuss routes for the next leg of their journey! Various maps were presented and they stocked up on most supplies but Br. Doug still found the provision of beetroot lacking!

After much discussion and revision and of course a game, a new course was decided upon! In future ALL navigators will report to the Brothers residence in North Fitzroy for prayer nights, to combine their sailing prowess and make the most of resources. Some Greens have also taken it to the Crow's Nest, by being part of Becoming Marist, discovering more about the lay of the land!

Good luck Greens...
